Multitudes Gaze Awe-Stricken As Disaster Follows on Disaster.

(Associated Press Night Report.)

PARIS, June 18.—Fifty aeroplanists took wing early today from the aviation field at Vincennes on the first stage of the European circuit race which calls for a flight to London and return, with stops at various places going and coming. Almost immediately after the start, two of the aviators met tragic deaths and at least one was gravely hurt.

THE DEAD.
CAPT. PRINCE, whose motor exploded in mid-air, flooding him with gasoline and burning him to death.

M. LE MARTIN, who dashed against a tree, the motor of his aeroplane crushing his head.

THE INJURED.
M. Gaudet, former lieutenant in the army, who was ejected in the civilian race under the name of Dalgard. He was found lying senseless near his machine in a wheat field four miles from Villars-Coteret. His injuries are serious.

M. Hille, his aeroplane struck the earth within a mile of the start. Hille was injured, but not seriously.

THREE OTHERS FALL.
Three other aviators fell. M. Lardam, near Charleville; Oscar Morrison, close to Gargy; and M. North at Chervin, within twenty-two miles of Liège, which is the end of the first stage.

Socialists and Other Undesirables Marched Out of Calexico.

Good Riddance to Bad Rubbish.

Many members of so-called Liberal army lay down their arms and are escorted away from the Imperial Valley town by a guard of United States soldiers, deputy marshals and civilians. For a paltry ten-dollar gold piece per they sold out their alleged ideals.

MEANEST THIEF THAT EVER LIVED Gets Away With Clothing of Fair Bathers at New York Summer Resort—Pink Toes Recalled From Cruel Threat of Stubble Fields.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, June 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] If the young women guests of a popular summer resort at Pine Brook, lay hands on the man who stole their shoes and stockings this morning when they were in swimming, New Jersey's meanest thief will yell for the police to save him. The girls would like to have him sentenced to life imprisonment. Think of having to tramp barefooted and barelegged over a quarter-mile of stubble!

Guests of the resort bathe in the Passaic River, and to get to the bathhouses have to wade through water ankle deep, so they take off their shoes and stockings before stepping from the shore. This morning twelve young women went to the river before breakfast to take a dip, and left their shoes and stockings behind a fence. A half hour afterward cries of distress brought other hotel guests.

Miss Katie Bernstein, the first to dress, waded ashore to the spot where she had left her shoes. Not a pair was in sight, nor a stocking either. She shouted the alarm and the other girls splashed to her.

The clothing of one young woman was stolen from the bathhouse.

YALE BACCALAUREATE.

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) June 18.—To the graduating class of Yale University and to an audience made up in other respects by hundreds of alumni who have returned for their class reunions at this commencement, President Arthur Hadley delivered the baccalaureate sermon today.

CABINET OF FIVE MEN SELECTED TO SUCCEED COX IN CINCINNATI.

Charles P. Taft, Brother of the President, and Former Mayor Julius Fleischmann Are Two of the Big Ones in the Quintette to Direct the Destinies of the Republican Party in Hamilton County, Ohio.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CINCINNATI (O.) June 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] For the past six weeks the Hamilton county Republican organization, which was presided over by George B. Cox for twenty-five years, and which was recently left without a leader when he resigned his titular position, has been busy within itself trying to work out the first great problem that faced it. There have been many rumors to the effect that Charles P. Taft would take hold of this organization upon his return from Europe, where he has gone to be "among those present" at the coronation of King George and Queen Mary. There have been other rumors to the effect that Rud K. Hynicka, and August Herrmann, long the confidential advisers of Cox, could not agree and that one of them would have to step down and out, or be thrown out by the supporters of the other man. However, all these have been just rumors.

PUBLIC STATEMENT.

Today the members of the organization made public a statement in which they say that there will be a cabinet to rule over the party here and that this is to be made up of the leaders

PALTRY TEN PIECES OF SILVER LURES UNDESIRABLE HORDE FROM "IDEALS."

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CALIFORNIA, June 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.]—Surrendering their arms and ammunition and quitting the so-called Socialist or Liberal army, a little band of men, made up chiefly of industrial workers of the world—who wouldn't work and never wanted to work—is today being conveyed out of the Imperial Valley by a detachment of United States troops, aided by deputy marshals and civilians.

Ten dollars gold—ten pieces of silver—was the price each man accepted to abandon his allegiance to the Socialist cause. Thus is drawn from the Magonist forces a large part of its strength.

Attracted by the opportunities offered for burning, plundering and pillaging, these men enlisted with the anarchistic Magonist horde which is menacing the peace and quiet of Lower California, under the pretense of there establishing a modern Utopia.

Twin Sons of Sir Arthur Henry Paget En Route to Their Ranch Near Los Angeles.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, June 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Having surrendered their places in English society to become owners of a California ranch, Arthur and Reginald Paget, twin sons of Lieut.-Gen. Sir Arthur Henry Paget, commander of the eastern divisions of the army of Great Britain, today left New York for Butler, Cal., where they will make their home.

"Mother fully approves of our plan to marry American girls and become citizens of the United States," said Arthur Paget, "and we have purchased a ranch of 2500 acres near Los Angeles, and will raise fruit."

"Darcy van Bocken of Los Angeles is associated with us. We have traveled through America several times, and we decided there was nothing which would please us better than farming."

Lady Paget, who owns considerable property in New York, was Miss Minnie Stevens, daughter of the late Parson Stevens of New York.

BUILDING FORTS ON BIG CANAL.

ACTUAL CONSTRUCTION WORK COMMENCES TODAY.

Preliminary Surveys for Sites of Batteries and Emplacements Already Made—Giant Guns to Command Both Entrances of Great Waterway—Rush Is the Word.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON (D. C.) June 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Actual construction work on the fortifications on the Panama Canal will be started tomorrow.

Preliminary surveys for the sites of batteries and emplacements already have been made by the army engineers. Locations for all the giant guns that will command both entrances of the great waterway have been chosen.

The work of fortifying the canal zone will be done by Col. Goethals and the force of men at his disposal on the isthmus.

Maps and drawings of the fortifications are being sent daily from the office of the chief of engineers to Col. Goethals. Work on the canal has advanced to such a stage that it is now necessary to rush the fortification work in order to keep the full force of men employed.

Col. Goethals complained to the department last week that it would be necessary to lay men off unless he could immediately get the plans for the preliminary excavation and concrete work of the forts.

It is the wish of the director of the great canal work to keep his great organization intact.

SYLVESTER T. SMITH DEAD.

Former General Manager of Union Pacific Follows His Friend Moffatt to the Grave.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

CHICAGO, June 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Sylvester T. Smith, who worked as a placer miner in Colorado, ago after having been general manager of the Union Pacific Railroad, died at his home here today. He was 72 years old and had been an invalid for several years.

Five nieces, daughters of Mrs. Albert Smith, Kansas City, Kan., and Mrs. Charles Smith, Lawrence, Kan., will share his immense fortune, consisting of stocks and bonds and several paying silver mines in Colorado.

After striking it rich in the mines Mr. Smith joined David Moffatt in a railroad venture. He left the Union Pacific to become general manager of the Denver and Rio Grande in 1898.

DRAINED TO DEATH.

SALINAS (Cal.) June 18.—Henry Robertson, a young farmer residing near Pledge, died here today as the result of injuries received by being dragged in the teeth of a hay rake when his team ran away yesterday.

GHOSTLY RELICS OF PAST.

Wrecking Crews on Battleship Maine Recover Plates and Other Chinaware From Depths.

RECOVERED PLATES NIGHT REPORT.—HAVANA, June 18.—As the remains of the battleship Maine gradually rise like a grim gray ghost above the slowly lowering level of the turbid waters within the cofferdam, the first discoveries are most interesting. A curious relic of the great disaster has been found. The explorers last night and this afternoon recovered plates and other chinaware in the officers' quarters.

Some pieces were identified later as parts of the dinner service of the captain and ward room mess. All were in a good state of preservation and were found piled up as they had been left by the stewards after the last dinner.

This afternoon the searchers found on the spar deck adjacent to the port turret a small ammunition box, such as is customarily distributed about the decks. This contained a mass of six millimeter cartridge clips for the naval rifle and a number of short knife bayonets in metallic leather-covered scabbards.

FROM AFAR.

CZAR OF RUSSIA AND SULTAN GREET PRESIDENT AND MRS. TAFT.

Congratulations From All Corners of World on Their Silver Wedding Anniversary Which They Will Celebrate Today at White House—Costly Presents From Friends and Relatives.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

WASHINGTON, June 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Foreign powers are sending their good wishes many thousands of miles to the President and Mrs. Taft on the occasion of their silver wedding anniversary, which they will celebrate tomorrow. The first came from the czar of Russia, who sent two-fold felicitations, the cable received at the White House this morning, reading:

"Peterhof, June 18, 1911.
"Mr. Taft, President of North American United States, Washington, D. C.: The day of the departure of the American squadron I express to you the great pleasure I had in this visit to our shores. I also convey to you my cordial congratulations for tomorrow's silver wedding."

"SIGNED." "NICHOLAI."
From the Sultan of Turkey came another cable of good wishes which read:

"Salonica, June 18, 1911.
"President Taft, Washington, D. C.: On the occasion of your silver wedding I offer my sincere congratulations as well as the wishes I form for your happiness and the prosperity of the United States."

"SIGNED." "MEHMET V."
Congratulations, like present, are pouring in on the President and Mrs. Taft by the hundreds. They are coming from all parts of the world and the executive office staff has been kept at work recording them and attending to the vast amount of other mail in connection with the celebration.

DEFINITE ARRANGEMENTS.
Definite announcement was made today of the arrangements for the reception tomorrow night. If it is clear and the ground is not damp, the President and Mrs. Taft will receive under one of the big trees on the south lawn, a canopy having been erected for that purpose. Carpet will be spread under the tree, which will be brilliantly illuminated by many electric lights. If the night is rainy the reception will be held in the blue room.

A detail of army officers from Fort Myer has been assigned to duty as special aides to the President for tomorrow night's entertainment. They will assist the regular aides in their customary duty of caring for the President's guests and will also act as escort to the President and Mrs. Taft.

The company attending the President and Mrs. Taft will include members of the President's cabinet and their wives, Miss Helen Taft, Robert Taft and Master Charles Taft, children of the President, Horace Taft, who was best man at the wedding, twenty-five years ago; Mrs. Charles Anderson and Miss Maria Herron, sisters of Mrs. Taft; Mr. and Mrs. Henry W. Taft of New York, brother and sister-in-law of the President, and Miss Della Torrey of Millbury, Mass., the President's aunt.

WILL INTRODUCE THE GUESTS.
Maj. Archibald H. Butt, U.S.A., personal aide to the President, will make introductions. There will be no attempt to adhere to any official formation of the line. The guests will proceed immediately to greet the President and his wife when they have taken their places.

Hundreds of gifts are arriving at the White House. One of the most interesting gifts received today was a remembrance from the "Tafters," the group of friends who accompanied the President and Mrs. Taft on the trip to the Philippines, several years ago. The gift comprised two solid silver Grecian ewers, twenty inches high, accompanied by a solid silver waiter, on which were engraved the monograms of the President and Mrs. Taft and the additional inscription, "From the Tafters."

Among those who contributed the gift were Representative and Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, Representative and Mrs. Swager Shirley and Mr. and Mrs. Bourke Cockran, all of whose marriages were reported to have been the result of the trip to the Philippines with the President.

Another gift which is particularly dear to the President is a silver dish, twenty inches in diameter, from the President's class at Yale University. From the Pal Upland University came a solid silver platter of unique design.

BIGGEST RECEPTION.
Miss Helen Taft probably will go through an ordeal tomorrow. Most of the young women of her age have ever faced. Mrs. Taft will help receive her short time, but it is expected that she will not be allowed to stand the strain very long and when she retires, Miss Helen will step into the line by her father's side and act as mistress of the White House.

It will not be Miss Taft's first reception, nor will it be the first time that she has received in place of her mother; but it will be the biggest reception in point of numbers from all indications that was ever held at the White House.

L O F T Y PLACE FOR WEDDING.

Colorado Hermit to Marry Artist at Top of Independence Mountain.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

GRAND JUNCTION (Colo.) June 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] John Otto, the hermit of Monument Canyon, today secured a license to marry Miss Beatrice Farnham. The wedding will take place Tuesday noon on top of Independence Mountain.

This monument is a massive rock pillar, 385 feet high, into which Otto has driven steel bolts, making a ladder which bride, groom, minister and witnesses must ascend for the wedding. Miss Farnham is a beautiful and wealthy artist who fell in love with Otto while he was guiding her through the new Monument National Park.

the coming of Thursday, June 22, the great day upon which the fifth George will be crowned as King of England, with Queen Mary as his consort.

In the great human maelstrom which is surging through the city, filling its highways and byways, there are hundreds of thousands of the men and women, who make up the empire upon which the sun never sets.

Disturbed high caste Brahmins from India's coral strand jostle gaunt, giant-like subjects of the King from Australia; the energetic, hustling Chinaman, housed in Britain by sympathetic, which he defends in the nasal twang of the American, rubs elbows with brown, muscular and hardy-looking New Zealanders.

BLACK AND BROWN MEN.
While the over-sea, thousands here are predominantly of the white race, there are black men, brown men and yellow men, who, while adding a note of color to the vast throng, emphasize the influence of this island kingdom, which extends to the remotest corners of the earth.

There is an army of Americans in the city, too, and they add to the gayety of the occasion.

WILL AID WORKING WOMEN.

Ventura Will Have an Organization Which Will Care for the Children of Women Who Work.

VENTURA, June 18.—The Parents-Teachers Association of this city held an important session yesterday in which definite steps were taken to establish a day nursery in the west end of the city, where little children can be cared for while the mothers go out to their work.

The need of such an institution will be imperative as soon as the fruit is dried and delivered. This season the Fruit Growers' Association have turned over nearly the entire output of dried apricots to be packed in this city. This will give work to a large number of women of the poor families who need employment. Their children will need care.

Following the packing of the fruit will begin the bean picking and walnut grading. In these industries a large number of women and children find employment. The committee named to investigate and to report on the matter consists of Rev. Dr. Col. J. E. Dotson, Mrs. J. M. McDougall, Mrs. W. E. Shepherd and Mrs. M. Murphy.

The standing committee for the association, named by Mrs. Reynolds, the president, as follows:

Step-son of Los Angeles Policeman Arrested at Corona for Stealing a Horse.

SANTA ANA, June 18.—Claude White, aged 23, arrested in Corona last night, was brought here today and is in the County Jail on a charge of horse stealing. Yesterday a horse and buggy belonging to Superintendent Lineberger was stolen at Anaheim, to which place a friend of Lineberger's had driven the horse and was arrested.

The horse was driven so hard yesterday that he could not be taken home today. White is the son of Nina R. Croft of Santa Ana, wife of Police Sergeant C. Croft of Los Angeles. Riverside Fire Destroys Barn, Automobile and a Supply of Rockefellers' Propelling Fluid.

(RIVERSIDE, June 18.—[Exclusive Dispatch].) This afternoon the barn and shed adjoining the residence of R. O. H. Sawyer, No. 1123 Chestnut street, were destroyed by fire. The alarm was turned in at 3:25 o'clock. Among other things destroyed were a touring automobile, 100 gallons of gasoline and a quantity of crude oil. The loss will probably amount to $10,000. Through the brave work of the firemen the houses of the neighborhood were saved. The fire started in the basement of the barn, the latter being built on a terrace, but as to the cause, it is not known.

STUDENTS MAKE VIEWS KNOWN.

THREATEN TO REMAIN AWAY FROM COMMENCEMENT.

Trouble in Santa Ana Schools Precipitated by the Action of the Board in Withholding Diploma from Young Man Against Whom Charges Had Been Filed.

SANTA ANA, June 18.—Commencement exercises were held last night for the class graduating from the Santa Ana High School, but one member of the class, Robert W. Binkley, did not get his diploma. It was withheld by the Board of Education on the ground that Binkley was yesterday convicted and fined $10 for disturbing the peace, and the school board wants time to investigate that matter.

The commencement exercises ended in rather an unusual manner. The trouble began before the exercises, when the graduates demanded that the school board give Binkley his diploma. They said they would not attend their own commencement if the board did not promise. The board replied that if the class did not come right along and get their diplomas according to programme they would never get them. The class came. The programme was carried out and thirty-six diplomas were handed out, but Binkley's was held.

Shortly before closing, Loren Mead arose to lead his class in singing to the audience he said: "The class believes that a great injustice has been done Mr. Binkley, and we regret that the school board took that action."

W. L. Duggan then stated that the school board was withholding the diploma to give it time to investigate, that it feels that a high school diploma should be as good as a certificate of character.

"I wish to say that this school board is going to run this High School, and the children are not going to run it," said Duggan.

Some of Duggan's remarks were hissed by some of the audience and some met applause, showing the division of feeling.

As Rev. Wright was about to pronounce the benediction, a group of boys broke forth in yells for Binkley, and Rev. Wright had to wait until the yelling was over with before he could make himself heard.

Binkley and four other boys were arrested for disturbing a party given at the residence of N. A. Um. Binkley and Howard Timmons were fined $10 apiece yesterday by Justice Cox. Three other boys are to have a hearing in the Juvenile Court next Friday. The boys are alleged to have attempted to secure a hand-out of refreshments, and have threatened Lindsey when he tried to make them leave the premises.

The action of the school board is taken as a declaration that it will use drastic measures to prevent disorders by High School boys.

DETAILS OF DEATH.

C. E. Lammie, cashier of the Orange County Savings Bank, today received a copy of a letter received by the German American Savings Bank of Los Angeles in regard to the sudden death of Miss Carrie Crossmyre, a Santa Ana nurse, at Naples, Italy, on May 28. AMBITIOUS IMPROVEMENT PLAN.

Santa Barbara Citizens Will Raise Big Sum to Open a Roadway—Angelenos Dig Up.

SANTA BARBARA, June 18.—One of the most ambitious plans for civic improvement launched in Santa Barbara for a long time is the movement for the building of a paved road from the boulevard over the mesa to connect with the highway constructed by the Pacific Improvement Company on the Hope ranch property.

The owners of abutting property on the mesa have agreed to assess their land $40 an acre to assist in raising $17,000 to do the work. The City Council has been asked to contribute $6000, and the Chamber of Commerce has approved the request. It is believed that the matter of raising the money will be met, and that the work will be under way in a short time. When the project is consummated, the mesa undoubtedly will be one of the thriving home centers of the city.

ANGELENOS CONTRIBUTE.

The local committee, composed of M. M. Potter, Samuel P. Caled and Harry J. Doulton, who have promised to raise $50,000 to be given to Ventura county to build a sea-level route from the town of Ventura to Santa Barbara, have received word from the Los Angeles Automobile Association that it will contribute $1000 towards the project. The matter was brought before the southern club by Philip Rice, president of the Los Angeles club, who realized the benefit to motor devotees of a good road from Ventura to this city, eliminating the Castles Pass, and was glad to help swell the fund. The Potter Hotel Company has subscribed $5000, and, it is believed, the entire amount will be subscribed within a few weeks.

The City Council has been asked to contribute $6000, and the Chamber of Commerce has approved the request. It is believed that the matter of raising the money will be met, and that the work will be under way in a short time. When the project is consummated, the mesa undoubtedly will be one of the thriving home centers of the city.

The local committee, composed of M. M. Potter, Samuel P. Caled and Harry J. The matter was brought before the southern club by Philip Rice, president of the Los Angeles club, who realized the benefit to motor devotees of a good road from Ventura to this city, eliminating the Castles Pass, and was glad to help swell the fund. The Potter Hotel Company has subscribed $5000, and, it is believed, the entire amount will be subscribed within a few weeks.

Dead Line on Legs is Drawn at Venice Beach.

No More Bathing Suits on the Streets or Promenade.

Last Sunday of Old Regime is Kept by Hundreds.

Yesterday was, in all probability, the last Sunday for one kind of bathing at Venice. That is, moreover, the kind which has been the most popular in the past and its passing was heralded by a record crowd who promenade the sands and the boardwalk in their abbreviated costumes as though they realized it was their last chance.

People who go to the sea to see what they can see are not likely to see as much at Venice after tonight as they once did. The Board of Trustees has arrived at the conclusion that nothing is so appropriate for a bathing place as a bathrobe, and a new ordinance affecting bathing and bathers, which they will pass tonight, makes it obligatory upon sea ladies to veil all of their glowing beauty from neck to ankle within the graceful folds of a robe in walking to and from the water front and their beach homes.

Nothing will be done with regard to abbreviated bathing skirts, chiefly for the reason that none have ap-for promenade and lounging purposes. It was sung there yesterday by some hundreds of that kind of "bathers." When the ordinance which is expected to pass this evening becomes effective a dead line will be drawn well down toward the water and everybody who wears one will have to stay below it or cover up their costume with a laprobe. Above are two of the nymphs making their last Sunday promenade on the cement "boardwalk."

THE MALE NUDENESS. With the men it is different. It is said that the new ordinance is called forth especially to protect residents of Venice from the unpoetic view of numbers of male bathers sprawled in their inartistic short suits upon the sands too near the cement promenade which stretches its lumpy mile between Venice and Ocean Park.

The men's suits are sleeveless, neckless, and practically legless. They are nothing more than trunks with chest protector attachment. It is to them that the chief objection is made.

Unwilling to depopulate Venice by any sweeping reform measure, that could mitigate the pleasure of bathing, Mayor Holbrook has refused to listen to any plan for lengthening the bathing suits of men or of women, but has agreed to an ordinance that will bring bathers to the beach in bathrobes. That will force men who wish to loaf and invite their souls on the warm sands to limit their loitering to a prescribed distance from the sidewalk.

The ordinance will place the human sand-dabs within a given number of yards of the sand sea waves so that the waves of the sea and the wave of reform will meet each other half way. After that, if the people desire to do not like to take lessons in anatomy on the ocean front, chance to roam where the bathers are basking they will have to bear with bare limbs in Christian fortitude. The living picture will be allowed to live in the limit set for it.

DANCING GOES. Redondo is not going to stand for dancing on Sunday. He said yesterday that Sunday is the day when people go to the beach for recreation and that dancing is the greatest pleasure which some of the beach combers have. He sees no more harm in dancing than in bathing or in permitting the hand to make music on Sunday. His ideal for Venice is the widest possible welcome and for all who wish to spend their weekly holiday at that place.

You can say for me," said Mayor Holbrook last night, "that one of the reasons people go bathing is to get their feet wet, and I will oppose any ordinance that limits the pleasure of bathing in a legitimate way. I can see why ladies who are delicately brushed by a damp and sandy bathing suit on the streets, and we will see to it that this does not happen, but we are certain that Venice bathers are far more circumspect than those of Atlantic City, Germany or France and we are not going to do anything that will make Venice appear as a ridiculously tight-laced.

Another act of the drama Uncle Sam is playing, with Dick Ferris, "Gen." Rhyas Phycie and the Mexican "Liberal" Junta, consisting of the Algonquin brothers, Librado Rivera and Anselmo L. Figueroa, in the cast, will be staged today, when the men will be arranged in the United States District Court, charged with violating the neutrality laws.

The task of separating the sheep from the goats will be a difficult one, from all indications, because the Junta denies commerce with Ferris, and Ferris says he and Phycie never even talked of filibustering, although they are friends. The Junta is in the city for two days, and Phycie will arrive this morning from the north.

The Mexicans will be represented by Job Harriman and members of his firm. Ferris has retained Davis & Rush to look after his interests. No advice have been received concerning the case of Phycie, who, it is believed, may be too poor, after the collapse of his dream of empire, to employ an attorney.

Ferris says he does not see how his last and best press-agency scheme can get him into serious trouble. "It was just a piece of advertising," he stated last night, "to boost the things I was interested in. The papers took up my telegrams to Diaz and Orozco eagerly enough, and much to my surprise, Diaz answered him. I wrote to the Mexican Consul at San Francisco, however, that I had no intention of

SHYSTER QUACKS JUMP FOR COVER.

Fake Doctors Terrified by Exposure, Leave City.

State Board's Field Widens; More Involved.

Systematic Fleeing of the Public Part of Game.

Literally terror-stricken by the storm which has followed the publication of the results of the six months' investigation into their methods by the State Board of Medical Examiners, the near-doctors, quacks and malpractitioners of Los Angeles are jumping for cover.

Not all nor even a considerable fraction of the names of those involved in the sweeping examination have been made public by Special Investigator C. A. Taggart and Attorney Hubert Morrow, under whose direction a force of detectives have been at work.

The imminent prospect of penitentiary sentences for the deaths of women and girls beguiled into believing their specious promises has produced a salutary effect in cleaning the city of their hideous presence. The scattering of their ship by the publication made in The Times of data collected by the special investigators has resulted in the dozens of the false practitioners and bloodsuckers leaving the city altogether. It is the assertion, however, of those in possession of the evidence that none of the known guilty will be able to escape.

A second result of the exposure which is looked upon by the medical examiners as a hopeful symptom of the awakening of popular indignation is the receipt by them of voluntary information supplementing and confirming their own evidence. In many instances the nature of the cases themselves is such as to make prosecution impossible except where the victims are willing to supply the evidence.

SYSTEMATIC FLEEING. Many of the quacks operating in the city are not only guilty of criminal malpractice but of the systematic fleeing of people who patronize them, according to the evidence collected by Taggart. He says that scores of people have been robbed by the false physicians since the investigation into their methods was begun. One of these cases was recently called to the attention of Prosecutor Eddie Kelly but no action was taken, owing to an offer to settle it out of court on the part of the "doctor."

The victim was Robert Grant, formerly employed at the Alexandria. Grant, called at the office of Dr. Higgins & Co., "specialists," with offices at 455 1-2 South Spring street. According to Taggart, Grant was told that he must undergo an operation. The operation is said to have been performed by a Dr. H. H. Grant, assisted by a Dr. J. H. Grant. For the alleged operation, Grant was compelled to pay $100. Later at the County Hospital Grant was examined by Surgeon Whitman, Assistant Superintendent Peterson and Dr. Witherbee. There was no evidence of any operation having been performed or having been necessary, according to the County Hospital physicians. In examining Grant, however, they discovered that a shallow flesh incision had been made on his body and had been sewed up.

Since then Hoaman and Giles have apparently fled hence. At the office of the Higgins Company nobody seems to know where they have gone. Suit was threatened by Grant, but the company has offered a settlement.

THE WATSON CASE. Dr. C. F. Watson, facing a charge of having performed a criminal operation, will probably be arraigned before Police Judge Rose in a few days. He is out of jail on bail.

Rose postponed setting the time for Watson's preliminary hearing owing to the fact that Le Compte Davis, the doctor's attorney, is busy in the Thompson trial.

Investigator Taggart has several cases to press against Watson should the one now pending fail to result in a conviction. Watson is said to have performed the operation, for $150, charging $150 for medicine. Many young girls are asserted to have been among his victims.

CROWD AT LUNA PARK. Thirty-one thousand visitors were reported at Luna Park yesterday afternoon. There was a considerable blockade caused by the rush of patrons of "Nemo's Trip to Humberland," chief of the twenty-four attractions now in swing at the park. The various features were liberally patronized.

Alarm at City Hall.

PUSH CRAFT INQUIRY TO CORE, WORD FROM DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

SEIZING an opportunity for a municipal clean-up such as has not taken place in many days in Los Angeles the county grand jury will today begin probing into the corruption that recent government organization through investigation by the District Attorney's office.

A message was received from District Attorney Fredericks last night, expressing his satisfaction with the work that has been done, and urging his staff to push it to the finish. Fredericks is in the East, on a mission connected with the dynamiting of The Times building.

Owing to the recent illness of his wife, which has kept him at her bedside continuously, Assistant District Attorney Ford will not appear before the grand jury today. His place will be taken by Arthur Keetch, a deputy.

formerly of the First Washington Volunteer Infantry, who died at his home in Hollywood yesterday, twenty hours after being stricken with apoplexy. He distinguished himself in many engagements in the Philippine campaigns and was one of the best-known soldiers on the Coast.

DEATH COMES QUICKLY TO LIEUT.-COL. FIFE.

Sudden Stroke Ends Life of Soldier Distinguished for Bravery and Excellent Service in Philippine Campaigns and in Responsible Posts on Pacific Coast.

Taps, the soldier's call to rest, sounded softly yesterday for Lieut.-Col. W. J. Fife, a distinguished martial figure in the Philippine campaigns, who died very suddenly at his home, the "Luna Bungalow," No. 949 West Sunset boulevard, Hollywood. Death was due to a stroke of apoplexy with which Col. Fife was seized at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon. He was 58 years old.

Col. Fife had been a resident of Hollywood for ten years. He came to Southern California from Tacoma, in which city he had resided twenty-four years. He gained his military training in the old California Military Academy at Oakland, and used his knowledge of military affairs in helping to organize the National Guard in the State of Washington.

He was in command of Fontana at San Francisco with the First and Second Battalions, and later with the First Battalion. Gen. Merriam gave him the command of Angel Island for several months and then assigned him to command of the fifth expedition to the Philippines, which included the United States transports Valencia and Senator, from San Francisco to Manila.

Col. Fife was in command of the Bishop's Palace at Palo, on the road to Santa Ana. When he was stationed at this point by Gen. Anderson, commanding the first division, the general recognized his abilities, with the words: "I am not prejudiced against volunteers, and know more about you and your command than you think I do, and therefore have given you the most dangerous and critical position on my entire line."

Gen. King placed Col. Fife in command of the forces at Santa Ana. As a result of his bravery at Palo, later on he took command of the first division during engagements at Calind and Toy Toy, and of the regiment that captured Morong.

Col. Fife was born in Barnard, Mich., October 25, 1852, and with his parents moved to Washington State, when about 18 years old. His father, William H. Fife, was interested in the hotel and theatrical business and was a large property holder in Tacoma. His son assisted him in his business, and after leaving the California Military Academy, read law in the office of Judge Hooker, for $150, and recently served on the United States Supreme Bench.

Col. Fife leaves a widow, Mary Fife, Mrs. Anna Flora Chidester of Tacoma, a daughter, and Norman T. and Chalmers R. Fife, two sons who live in San Francisco. His mother, Mrs. W. H. Fife, and Mrs. M. Smith, a sister, are both living at Auburn, Wash., and Wall Fife, a brother, lives at Venice.

Funeral arrangements will not be made until the arrival of his daughter and two sons from the North.

Battle Stories of The Civil War.

The War Day by Day Fifty Years Ago

LXXIV.

June 10, 1861—Both North and South Were Making Every Effort to Put Into Service an Adequate Naval Force With Which to Prosecute the War on the Water—The Difference in Their Resources.

FIFTY years ago today one of the most pressing questions before the government in both the North and the South was that of creating an adequate navy with which to prosecute the war along the coast and at sea.

The necessity on both sides was urgent. The North had the task of blockading 3,000 miles of southern coast line. The South hoped to cripple its opponent by destroying its merchant ships and their cargoes.

The South's programme imposed on the North the necessity of sending out fast cruisers to chase its commerce destroyers, thus depriving it of the services of much needed vessels with which to maintain the blockade.

Furthermore, the North had need of a great number of river craft. It must create flotillas for the Mississippi, the Ohio and their larger tributaries. It must have numerous vessels of light draft and peculiar build to navigate the rivers of Virginia and the shallow sounds and bays of the southern coast.

Its task therefore was great, for when the war began the United States navy, so far as its immediate effectiveness was concerned, was scarcely more than a name. There was this, however, in favor of the Federal government: It had unlimited means with which to create the naval force it needed, in money, in shipbuilding plants, in material, in men and in an extensive merchant marine from which to acquire ships by purchase.

The situation of the South was far different. When the war began it did not possess a single vessel. More than half-a-dozen revenue cutters in southern ports had been seized, but these were small craft.

With no merchant marine from which to draw vessels by purchase, the South had no shipyards in which to build them, no large force of mechanics, such as could be gathered at any point in the North, and practically no shipbuilding material, except standing timber.

The age of iron and steel in warships was just coming in, but there were only three rolling mills in the Confederacy fitted for heavy work. Two of these were in Tennessee and one in Atlanta. There was a foundry at New Orleans, but the Tredegar Iron Works at Richmond was the only plant capable of casting heavy guns.

Iron was extremely scarce and very high, and owing to the blockade, was destined to become much scarcer and higher.

Southern Naval Officers. In one respect the South had an element of strength in its attempt to create a navy. This was in officers. Many of the best-trained men in the naval service of the United States resigned their commissions either before the war began or on their arrival home from distant stations, to cast their lot with the South.

Up to June, 1861, not less than 200 naval officers had left the old service for the new, and before the war ended the number was to reach a total of 321.

These officers made no attempt, on quitting the service, to take their ships into southern ports. In some cases this might have been done, to the great advantage of the South. That it was not done was due to the professional sense of duty that constrained each officer to maintain his allegiance to the United States navy as long as he was in it.

With no ships, the Confederate government was embarrassed to find fitting occupation for many southern naval officers who rallied to its standard.

Many of these officers had to wait idly at the seat of government until something could be found for them to do. Others were employed on special duty.

Several were assigned to the Norfolk Navy Yard, the most valuable single naval asset of the Confederacy. Here they did a great deal of efficient work toward making an ironclad out of the frigate Merrimack, that had been sunk when the yard was abandoned by the Federals April 21.

Backbone of the Navy. There were in the United States navy when President Lincoln was inaugurated nominally ninety vessels. Of these, however, fifty were sailing ships and therefore obsolete, while of the ninety, twenty-one were unserviceable, being chiefly old wooden craft, rotting, unmaneuverable or tied up at navy yard piers.

Of the remaining sixty-nine, only forty-two were in commission, and of these forty-two only eleven were in American waters. Of these eleven a majority were in the Gulf of Mexico. So reduced was the navy in January preceding Lincoln's inauguration, that only one ship of war was on the Atlantic Coast, the Brooklyn, of twenty-five guns. She was afterward sent to the Gulf.

Some of the ships on distant stations soon arrived home; but when the war began there were not half a dozen effective ships in commission on the entire Atlantic Coast.

dispatches from the Potomac, where she did effective work.

Some of the ships named above are out of commission and out of repair, while the war began, while others were on the other side of the globe.

The scattered squadrons of the United States included both sailing and steam vessels. The latter were also equipped with sails, but steam machinery made each of them worth three sailing craft.

The list showing where the navy's ships were stationed when the war began, introduces many names remembered for their association with the old sailing-ship days in the naval service.

In the East Indies were the John Adams and Vandalia, sailing sloops of war, and the Hartford and Decatur steam sloops of war.

In the Mediterranean were the Richmond, the Susquehanna and the Iroquois, steam sloops.

On the coast of Africa were the sailing sloops of war Constellation, Potomac and Harriet, the steam sloops, Mohican and San Jacinto, the steamers, Myrtle and Sumter and the Relief, sloop.

On the Brazilian station were the sailing frigates Congress, the steam sloop Seminole, and the Cyane and St. Mary, sailing sloops. The Levant, sailing sloop of war, had been lost at sea in the Pacific the preceding autumn. The Niagara, a frigate, was returning when the war began from special service to Japan.

Rushing Work on Ships. Practically all the ships abroad had been ordered home when it was seen that war was inevitable. Some of them had arrived by mid-June, but others were not expected until autumn.

Meanwhile the government was rushing work fitting out every available ship. The Niagara, a frigate, was returning when the war began from special service to Japan.

Through the early summer old sailing craft that had not been in the navy for years left northern ports to join the blockading fleets in the South.

But the strength of the navy lay at this time in the steam vessels, and fifty years ago today the government had in service, or nearly ready to sail, a fleet of sailing ships, and a few steamers, of the Hartford class.

Four large sideswheeler and six sloops of war of the Hartford class, four large sideswheeler and six sloops of war of the Hartford class.

Other vessels were being purchased at a rate that would add to the fleet before the end of the year, thirty-six sideswheeler, thirteen bark, twenty-four schooner, eighteen bark and two brig.

Contracts had been let, or orders issued to government works, to build fourteen powerful steam sloops (steam), twenty-three steam gunboats, which from the rapidly with which they were built, were known as the "iron-hulled" and a number of double-ended steamers for use in southern rivers.

The design of these latter craft was such that they could steam either way, on the principle of a ferryboat, and therefore could be navigated in narrow streams.

Various New York ferryboats were bought also for this service, and sent to Hampton roads for use in Virginia rivers, that were planned like the ferryboats, with iron heavy enough to turn a rifle ball.

In case the navy was able to penetrate far into the interior of the Confederacy on streams that were not well defended by batteries and make war on the riflemen of the South; for all these river craft were well armed.

The increase in the United States navy fifty years ago was at a rate that was to give it at the end of 1861 a list of 264 vessels.

The sailors in the navy when Lincoln took office numbered about 74,000. The increase was at a rate that would give the navy at the end of 1861 not less than 212,000 men, and at the end of the war about 315,000.

filibustering, and expressed my good-will toward the Mexican republic. "The advertisements in the New York papers, calling for men to go to Mexico were inserted by a friend whom I don't want now to name, without my authorization and without my paying for them. I never took any men to Mexico. The whole thing was a dodge to have a newspaper story on.

"My election to the Presidency of the republic was a joke. I declined the honor by letter. I sent no flag; that was done by a costumer in San Diego, and a foolish friend nearly got shot for delivering it. I know Pryce and like him. He was too much a gentleman to command the cut-throats about Ensenada. He quit. I don't believe he brought away a lot of money, as has been said. I think the insurgents would have to cut out the red flag, I.W.W. and all that, or made a dodge to have a newspaper story on.

"I was outspoken in my condemnation of the rebels, and I have a suspicion that they disliked me enough to aid the authorities in procuring my arrest. I am through with San Diego. The expedition hasn't been prosperous. I resigned about the time the higher-ups did.

"I don't think Pryce is guilty. I shall call Pryce a liar. I need a newspaper man, who know that my advertising job was simply an advertising job."

Ferris remains true to his reputation.

The New Week.

GET IN "THE TIMES" GREATER CONTEST WHILE THE RUNNING IS STILL GOOD.

The Leaders Are Going Fast and It Will Take Work to Overtake Them, But It Can Be Done If Gone About in the Right Way—The New Week Is Just Beginning.

THE NEW week is on in The Times Greater Contest. It began Saturday at noon, but as a matter of fact very little is usually done on Saturday afternoon at this season of the year.

So you may enter today and still have an equal chance at this week's prizes, with the leaders of the contest. You will really have a better chance, for the leaders have been working several weeks, while you as a new contestant have virgin territory to cover.

It must be evident to you, who have been contemplating entering the Greater Contest, that one cannot go on, and on, and continue to bring fresh, new business all the time. You have not seen your friends on this yet, while the others in some cases, have almost exhausted their possible calls.

Look at the race now while it is early. There is a long distance to go, and if you use intelligent effort and system in your work, you are almost sure to win a prize.

Look at Scott, now leading after two weeks' work. Look at Lieber, who was among the last to enter, now in second place. Look down the line, and decide if you do not think you can do as well.

Panama Timber Lands

Are said to contain the finest and most valuable hardwoods in America. Mahogany, Spanish Cedar and Coratu (a variety of Circassian Walnut) among other valuable hardwoods.

These lands have recently been thrown open to Americans on terms virtually a gift—$2.50 DOWN AND $2.50 IN FOUR YEARS, with the balance to be paid in installments.

Much of this land has been taken up, and all will soon be gone. Previous sale, we offer any part of 16,000 acres in tracts to suit, located in Veragua, between the Rivers San Pablo and San Pedro, not far from the close to tide-water, which, with the opening of the Panama Canal, will give easy access to the markets of the world.

When cleared of timber, the land itself will be most valuable for the cane, bananas, etc., as the soil is a rich loam, varying from six to twenty feet deep. While this country is well watered, there are no swamps, but it is devoid of transit facilities, which are now near at hand.

The titles are perfect, being Government titles. Applications for these timber lands should be filed at once, and Government in the order received by us. "First come, first served." Limited amount, applicants would do well to telegraph their reservations remittance to cover follow by first mail.
